NORTHFRAME · WEBSITE DESIGN

A website concept for PFW Services (Permian Fab Works)

An independent design proposal: how your website could look on a desktop screen and on a phone.

- "Drawn, built and welded in Midland" with your skids in the first screen and the phone number one tap away
- A line drawing of a pump skid draws itself as visitors scroll, then turns into the photo of your finished skid
- Your work as a clean numbered list: skids, trailer units, tanks, loaded-out jobs and steel for interiors

This is a design preview, not a live replacement for your current site. The description, address and photos come from your current website and would be confirmed with you before anything goes live. Photos were upscaled for this preview.
