A website direction for San Miguel Ironworks

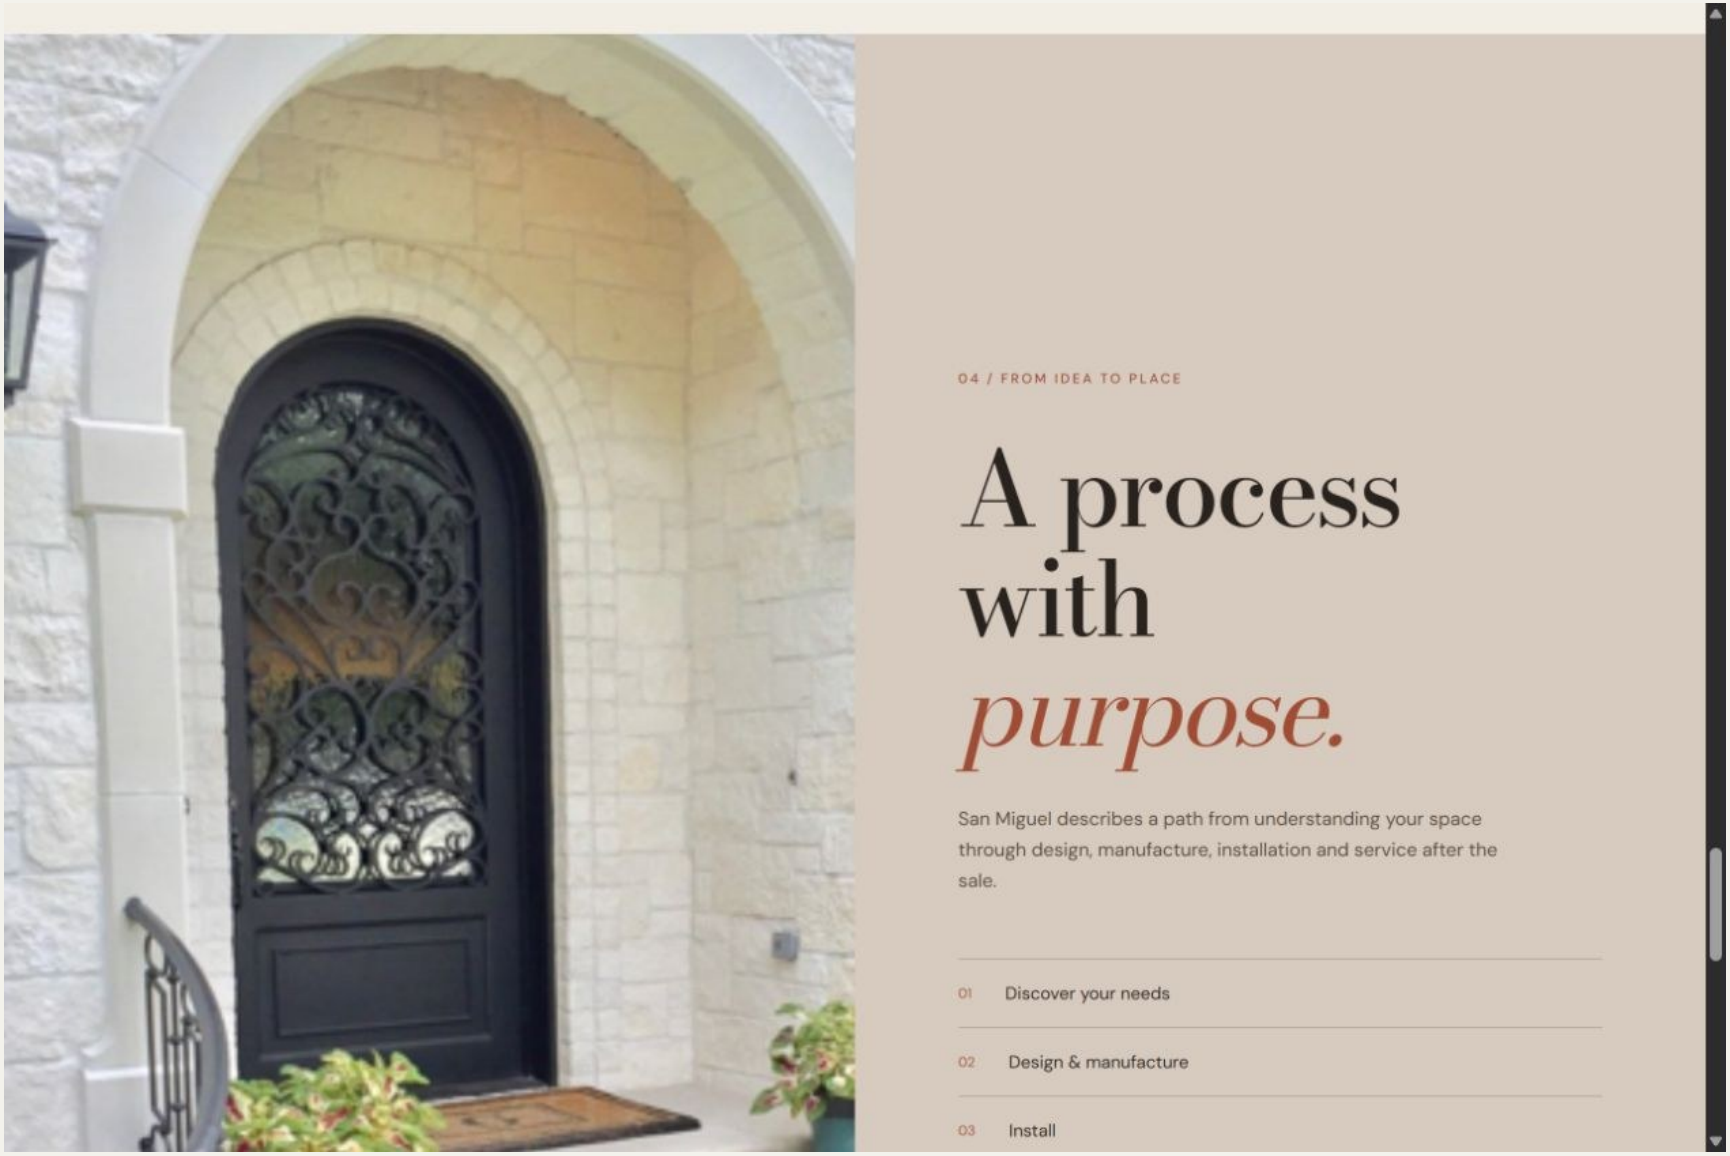

Architectural ironwork, framed by the work.

Capabilities, made clear

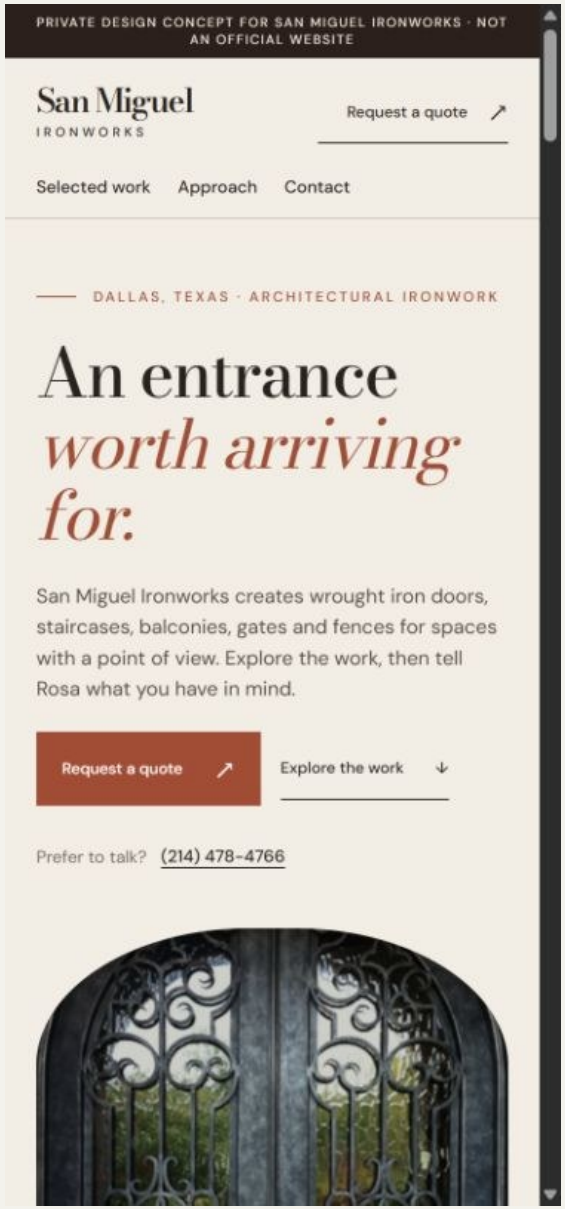

Desktop concept / actual browser view

Work, material and detail

Company imagery / private presentation only

A clear route on mobile

Architectural ironwork, framed by the work.

An arched entry and a category-based gallery give doors, stairs, balconies and gates room to be seen.

The concept adapts to a narrow screen, with readable service information and a visible next step for an inquiry.

Want to explore this direction?
Reply to Nathanael at hello@northframesites.com.

This is a private design study using your published company imagery. Nothing on your existing website has been changed.