NORTHFRAME · WEBSITE DESIGN

A website concept for Smith Forge TX

An independent design proposal: how your website could look on a desktop screen and on a phone.

- "Good forged work should last forever." over your forge fire, with the phone number one tap away
- As visitors scroll, a steel bar runs through the forging colors from black to yellow, sparks fly and a finished piece appears
- Your butterflies, hummingbirds, mirror and chandelier on one wall, your story from the shop steps in West Virginia, and the private classes

This is a design preview, not a live replacement for your current site. Your story, services, classes, hours and photos come from your current website and would be confirmed with you before anything goes live.

THE SMITH

He sat on the shop steps at six.

Eugene grew up in West Virginia, where his father was a practicing blacksmith. As a young child, often sitting on the steps of the shop, he watched the rhythm of hammer and anvil shape glowing steel.

He later earned a degree in Illustration from the Rhode Island School of Design, and he approaches the forge as sculpture and design, not just a trade. Today he works in Fredericksburg, with wood from nearby sawmills and neighboring ranches.

EXPERIENCE	8+ years as a professional blacksmith
TRAINING	Illustration, RISD
LOCAL WORK	Fredericksburg Brewing Company

PRIVATE CLASSES

Step into the forge.
